AL BAGGETT NAMED COACH OF BUFFALOES

Amarillo College Mentor Is Head Physical Education

SUCCESSFUL COACH

Selected From a Large Field Because of Record

Al Baggett of Amarillo, for the past three years director of athletics in the Amarillo Junior College, was selected Tuesday by Dr. J. A. Hill as director of athletics of W. T. He takes the position filled by Coach S. D. Burton, who dropped dead a month ago.

The appointment was made after more than fifty coaches had been interviewed by Dr. Hill and members of the athletic committee.

Mr. Baggett is in New York this summer working on his master's degree in physical education. He will assume the duties as director of physical education in W. T., coaching football, basketball and track.

The success of Mr. Baggett in the Amarillo institution has attracted the attention of lovers of athletics over the southwest. His football team has suffered defeat only three times in three years, and his track team won the state championship.

Before coming to Amarillo Baggett was coach at the Wichita Falls Junior College, and at Vernon high school for four years.

Baggett is a graduate of Ouichita College of Arkansas. He is a follower of the Rockne style of football, although he uses a variation of the system, sometimes switching to the Warner wingback.

His teams have been noted especially for their well-drilled precision and knowledge of fundamentals of the game. Their deceptive play has carried them far in many contests.

In his post-graduate study, Baggett has had eight weeks of training in physical education under Howard Jones at the University of Southern California, eight weeks at the University of Michigan and has attended 10 major coaching schools throughout the United States.

Baggett also holds a reserve captain's commission in the United States army. This summer he spent five weeks in camp at Fort Leavenworth, Kans., where he had charge of 600 conservation recruits to prepare for the reforestation work.

In replacing the late Coach Burton, Baggett will have a good record to live up to. Burton's basketball teams were known and recognized as among the leading quintets throughout the United States. Besides a record of more than 100 A. A. championships than any other team, Burton's cagers twice attended the National A. A. U. tournament at Kansas City, where they once reached the semi-finals.

Burton took over the coaching of football in 1931 after he had dropped the sport for six years. Prior to 1925 his grid teams were among the leaders of the game in this section.

The athletic council of the college which recommended Baggett is composed of D. A. Shirley, registrar and associate dean, chairman; R. A. Terrill, head of the department of manual arts; W. E. Lockhart, head of the department of commerce; T. B. McCarter, head of the physics department; Mitchell Jones, associate professor of education and freshman athletic coach; Travis Shaw, business manager; F. E. Savage, superintendent of the demonstration school, and Dr. Hill.

Burrus Claims Low Wheat Record

S. J. Burrus states that The News has been printing the good yields on wheat in Randall county, but has failed to publish some of the poor yields. He believes that he has established a record on his farm northwest of Canyon.

He has had 320 acres in wheat the past two seasons. From this field he has harvested and sold only 50 2-3 bushels for the past two years, an average of only .79 of a bushel per acre for the two years.

Has Mr. Burrus captured the new low yield record of Randall county?

Stockholders of the Texas Utilities Co. Will Receive Offer

At a meeting of the new directors of the General Public Utility Company in New York Friday, Judge I. R. Kelso and J. O. Guleke urged that the consumer-owners who bought stock in the Texas Utilities Co. be protected in the re-organization plan. Judge Kelso has demanded since the properties went into the hands of a receiver that this class of stockholders be protected to the fullest extent.

The new directors have promised that a plan will be presented during the coming ten days. Gene Howe of Amarillo has notified members of the Protective Committee that a meeting will be held as soon as the proposed plan is received. Clyde W. Warwick has attended meetings of the protective committee in the past, representing the owners in Canyon. The directors promised several months ago to submit some kind of plan, but have neglected to do so.

Judge Kelso has been devoting all of his time seeking to protect the interest of the people of this section in the re-organization plan, and believes that some agreement will be made whereby the stock will not be a loss to the holders.

Four Men Arrested Charged Theft of Wheat from Holland

J. T. Williams, Lendon Bradburn, E. M. Coffee and T. D. McCrady were arrested Saturday charged with theft of wheat from G. C. Holland who lives in the north part of the county.

Sheriff Bob Barnett secured a written statement Monday from Williams and Bradburn in regard to the theft and disposition of the wheat.

The men are being held awaiting the action of the grand jury.

Coffee was the only one of the four to make bond. The other three will remain in jail until district court meets.

JIMMIE GAMEWELL TAKES SECOND IN TOURNAMENT

Jimmie Gamewell was second in the Indian Hills Open tournament Sunday with 289, one above par, when Paul Gore of Amarillo chalked up 286, two under par.

The finals were played Sunday when a shower last Wednesday caused the tournament to be stopped. At that time Gore was leading Gamewell 4 strokes.

CHANGES ARE MADE IN FEES AT COLLEGE

Semester Plan To Go Into Effect in September Term

RANDALL HALL PLAN

Try to Meet Economic Conditions Of Students

Great changes will be made at the College this fall to serve the greatest possible number of students during the unprecedented times which now prevail. The greatest change is one which was determined upon yesterday giving students an opportunity to attend college for four split semesters, and thus pay their fees in four small amounts rather than in two large amounts.

The last legislature raised the fees at all the State supported colleges. Under the new law tuition is $25.00 per semester of eighteen weeks, and the regular school year of nine months is made up of two semesters. According to the plan adopted at Canyon, the student may enter on September 19 and pay his fees for a half-term or nine weeks. The fees for that length of time will be $12.50 tuition fees and an activity fee which is $4.00. This activity fee includes athletic events, lyceums, text books and hospital service as well as the privilege of using the college golf course. This charge will enable the student who can raise only $16.50 at one time to come to college; if at the end of the nine weeks he can get money for another nine weeks' he can continue in residence and if he cannot do that he will suffer no loss of credit for his work. It is expected that this new plan will make it possible for many boys and girls who could not otherwise come to college to be on hand this fall; their expenses can now be met on the reduced monthly salaries which parents are getting, or from produce income which comes in monthly.

Dr. J. A. Hill, in commenting on the Split Semester plan said, "In using this plan during the first

Send The News To Students

This is the last issue of the Canyon News during the first half of the Summer Session at the College. This issue contains much of interest to college students and prospective students and their parents. It is suggested that every person getting a copy of this issue, send it, or give it, to someone who is interested in attending college this fall. Pass the word along that expenses are low in our college, that there is room for all and that Canyon's winter climate is pleasant and health giving and that the college here is second to none in the entire region. Let's all help Canyon by helping others.

Curtis Brown With 10 Gallons Beer Taken Last Night

Curtis Brown was arrested last night by Sheriff Bob Barnett, and 10 gallons of beer taken from his home. He was charged with possession of liquor and being intoxicated. He is bound over to the grand jury on another charge of possession.

Clyde Johnston was arrested Tuesday night for intoxication, fined $25 and costs yesterday by Judge J. L. Prichard, and given 10 days in which to raise the money.

Roy Barnhill saved out of the Potter county jail Monday night. He was being held for theft at the Imperial Chevrolet Co. and Sheriff Barnett had secured a written confession. He is still at large.

Upchurch Sent to Deaf Smith to Assist With Cotton

Since Deaf Smith county has no county agent, W. H. Upchurch has been requested by the extension division at College Station to assist farmers in that county with their cotton acreage reduction blanks.

Mr. Upchurch spent yesterday in Hereford, filling out blanks for farmers.

Counties over the state which do not have county agents are finding it difficult to secure proper aid for their farmers.

Mrs. George Reynolds of Huntington Park, Calif., is here to spend several months at the home of her sister, Mrs. Oscar Hunt.

NEW RELIEF COMMITTEE IS NAMED HERE

Approved Saturday By Commissioners Court of County

STRAIN EMPLOYED

Application Filed For Relief Funds For the Summer

A. W. Elrod and F. M. Graizier of Austin, state representatives of the Texas Relief and Rehabilitation Commission, were here Saturday installing a new county committee and checking out the old committee. Judge S. B. Orton had filed resignation last week with the state authorities. The new committee is composed of Lee Foster, Chairman, J. J. Walker, Oscar Smith, T. V. Slack and Clyde McElroy.

A special meeting of the Commissioners Court was called and approved the new committee Saturday afternoon. H. S. Strain was selected by the committee as secretary and will have charge of the office work.

Mr. Elrod has made two previous visits to the local committee, and in checking out the old committee Saturday paid a very high compliment to Judge Orton and Fred E. Wortham, who have handled the office during the past year. Mr. Elrod stated that no county had presented a more complete record of the activities, and he took with him some of the forms used in the local office as being superior to any he had found in the state. Mr. Elrod offered the office work to Mr. Wortham, provided he would resign as secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, but this offer was rejected owing to the pressing work of the Chamber of Commerce. All of the work of the local committee has been done by Mr. Orton and Mr. Wortham without any compensation, and all of the relief money received from the state and federal authorities has been spent in local relief.

The new committee met Monday and decided upon its policies. An application is being prepared for money to be used in Randall county monthly for relief work. No

Bicycles Must Have Tail Lights

"Under the state law bicycles must be equipped with front lights and either tail lights or reflectors," stated Harvey Cash. Monday. City officers have been asked to see that all bicycles are so equipped in order to avoid serious accidents.

Starting fires near buildings in the evenings is another serious matter, stated Mr. Cash. It has been reported to city authorities that children are starting fires in the late evenings, and often near buildings. With everything so dry, a serious fire may result from this practice.

Feed Loans May Be Made Until Saturday, July 15

All farmers who wish to receive loans from the government to buy feed must have their applications filed at the County Agent's office on or before July 15th. A number of applications have been received this week and it is expected that many farmers will avail themselves of the loans before Saturday.

These feed loans are being handled through the seed committee which has acted the past two years, composed of W. C. Black, T. C. Thompson, R. O. Allison and W. H. Upchurch. A sufficient amount may be borrowed to feed stock on a monthly basis through the drought and into next year.

Drouth relief freight rates have been granted by the Santa Fe, provided the shipment of feed are approved by the county agent. These rates will not apply to dealers, but will be extended to all farmers and stockmen who make application on shipments of their own.

Rev. E. C. McKenzie Accepts Call From Pampa Church

Rev. E. C. McKenzie has accepted a call from the Church of Christ in Pampa and left Tuesday with his family for the new location.

Rev. McKenzie has been pastor of the local church since last fall. He stated Monday that he regretted very much to leave Canyon. He states that he has never lived in a town which he enjoyed more and where the citizenship was so high in ideals.

The Pampa church is one of the leading congregations of the Church of Christ in the Panhandle, and the call of the congregation comes as a distinct compliment to Rev. McKenzie.

Four Injunctions Stopped Sales of Real Estate Here

Judge Henry S. Bishop granted four injunctions last week on deed of trust sales which were scheduled. The cases come under a law passed by the last session of the legislature, and will be tried in district court next month.

The following were the cases: Elva Mauldin vs. Howard C. Wade et al. E. E. Mauldin vs. Howard C. Wade et al. J. M. Winstead vs. Standard Savings & Loan. A. A. Walker vs. G. G. Foster, et al.

Only Slight Decline in Postal Receipts in Canyon Office

The Canyon post office did a good business during the past year, showing only a slight decline over the year ending June 30, 1932.

The decrease in business amounted to only $174.79, according to the report completed by Dewey Foster, assistant postmaster.

The total receipts for the year ending June 30, amounted to $15,178.79. The receipts for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1933 were $15,004.20.

This decline of business is much less than most of the post offices in the country will show.

WORK STARTS ON STATE PARK NEAR CANYON

Three Companies Arrive For Six Months Work

HIGHWAY FIRST

Rain and Storm Hit Camp in Early Afternoon

600 men of President Roosevelt's Civilian Conservation Corps arrived yesterday at the Palo Duro Canyon, 15 miles east of this city, pitched their tents, and started preparation for six-months' work in beautifying the Palo Duro State Park.

The date of arrival was pushed forward after an inspection Saturday by Major Humphries, quartermaster from Fort Sill, who pronounced the site ready for the men. The original plans called for arrival today.

The first company arrived in Amarillo from Fort Sill yesterday morning, and were hauled to the camp site by citizens of Canyon and Amarillo. Tents were immediately pitched, and the camp placed in readiness.

At one o'clock the other two companies of 400 men arrived in Amarillo from Fort Sam Houston, and transportation was started to the new camp site. Just at the time of arrival of the second bunch of men, a high wind and rain swept up the Palo Duro, grounding every tent which had been erected by the early arrivals. Six men were slightly injured by falling tent poles, and were brought to Canyon for medical attention. The roads for several miles were very slick, but soon dried under the heavy traffic.

The first company from Fort Sill is under the command of Captain Lee V. Hunnicutt, Lieut. R. H. Cooper, and Lieut. A. E. White.

One company from Fort Sam Houston is in charge of Major Randolph Gordon, with Captain C. T. Roy, Capt. C. E. Stiles, and Lieut. G. M. Powell. The other company is under Major James E. A. Watson, Capt. N. A. McClure, Capt. J. J. Hansey and Lieut. Murphy.

F. A. Dale, representative of the National Parks system, was here Sunday and was highly complimentary of the Palo Duro and the possibilities of development in the project. Officers arriving with the men indicate that the federal government looks upon this project as a five year working plan, should congress give authority to continue the work longer than two years, which is now authorized.

Men in the companies stated that they were very anxious to get to work, and would serve out their enlistment of six months at the Palo Duro. All of the men are ex-service men, and all Texans, and interested in the Palo Duro project.

Citizens of Canyon responded readily for the call to provide transportation for the men from Amarillo to the camp site. Amarillo was chosen by the army officers at the destination, owing to transportation costs.

Citizens of Canyon have signified their intention of offering every possible means of entertainment for the men during the fall months. President J. A. Hill stated.

Mrs. Oscar Hunt states that of all the proposals for improvements in Randall county she favors the building of a hospital. She believes that a hospital is of great necessity, and funds should be sought from the Public Works Commission for this purpose.

THE PALO DURO PARK

The News wishes that it were possible to pay proper tribute to all who have done so much to make possible the Palo Duro Park. The publisher of The News has been closely affiliated with the movement since it was started and can honestly say that never before has such a concerted movement been made by the citizens of the Panhandle for one project in such a short time.

Of course we must all realize that the Palo Duro Park would not be a reality today were it not for the depression. The federal government would not be spending practically half a million dollars during the coming six months on the project were it not for the fact that places are needed to relieve unemployment. It takes a long while to interest the federal government in developing projects, as the Panhandle has learned during the 30 years it has advocated that the Palo Duro be made into a park.

However, there are a number of people who deserve a great deal of credit in finally pushing over the project.

Fred A. Emory, of Chicago, representing the Byars Bros. has had visions for 15 years of building this park. It was his enthusiasm which finally opened the road to the canyon three years ago, making it possible for the people to drive to the brink of the canyon for the first time. From the very start, the Palo Duro Park has attracted thousands of visitors who began to dream the dreams and see the visions which other citizens have had for so many years.

D. E. Colp, chairman of the State Parks Board, deserves much credit for co-operating with Mr. Emory in preparing the papers for application of the R. F. C. loan, and for securing the co-operation of the State Board of Water engineers, who made a complete survey of the Palo Duro last summer. It was probably these surveys which finally induced the federal government to participate in the project to the extent that it is. During these surveys J. B. Elliston devoted practically all of his time to assisting the state officials. He has worked with Mr. Emory throughout the preparation of the ground work for the campaign which finally put over the project.

Among Amarillo citizens who are largely responsible for the final success of the project are T. E. Johnson, J. O. Guleke, Julius Dornfield, and Senator Clint Small. Mr. Johnson and the Globe-News bore all of the heavy expense that was necessary in the preliminary work, amounting to several hundred dollars. Mr. Johnson was the contact man between Washington and Austin, between the army and local citizens. Mr. Guleke made the trip to Washington when the park was finally approved by federal authorities. Mr. Dornfield and Senator Small took charge in Austin when it looked like the park was hopelessly lost by objections on part of the state authorities, and succeeded in getting the affair straightened out to the satisfaction of all.

Among Canyon citizens who bore the brunt of the work and worry were Judge S. B. Orton, Commissioner J. B. Heath and Secretary Fred E. Wortham of the Chamber of Commerce. Judge Orton and Mr. Heath had the backing of the Commissioners Court in drilling the necessary wells, producing the pipe for the water supply, and the other problems connected with the projects. They believed in the project and never looked back once they started.

Other citizens should be mentioned, among them L. P. White and Judge Matthews of Claude.

But to give credit where credit is due would be naming practically all of the citizens of the Panhandle. There has been wonderful co-operation all through the campaign. The citizens have believed in the project, and have sold their ideas to the state and federal authorities.

No one can now contemplate the extent of the improvements which will be made at the Palo Duro Park. It is believed that eventually the federal government will take over the project, extend the boundaries of the present park to at least 100,000 acres and make a real national park.

The dream of years is being realized today with the coming of 600 men who will be here at least six months. It will be no surprise to see several thousand men at work in the Palo Duro during the winter, and on through next year until this is one of the greatest show places in Texas.

The appeal of President Roosevelt to repeal the 18th amendment sounds pretty much like the anti-fel feel the need of the President's open support in the liquor question in order to secure sufficient number of states to make the repeal certain. The News has followed the President in all other questions, but must part company on the liquor question. The swing is such that it may be predicted that the 18th amendment will be repealed, and the saloon returned. But it also is safe to predict that the liquor crowd will abuse their powers to such an extent that the pendulum will again swing against liquor and the saloon, and ere many years liquor will be permanently banished from America.

A state milk dictator is promised in a number of the larger towns of Texas on account of the fight between producers and distributors. It would not be surprising to see this applied to Amarillo where some of the distributors are selling milk below cost, and nearly at a point of bankruptcy for the farmers. Randall county is vitally interested in the milk situation since so much of the milk supply for Amarillo is produced by the farmers of this county. To force out of business the dairy farmers of Randall county through a senseless milk war among distributors would be most disastrous to this county.

These are funny times. The government cuts its own forces, and salaries of its workers, the same as every one else; the government asks industries to take on more men and to increase wages; the government recruits 250,000 men for the reforestation army. Firing men, putting them on the street, and then rehiring them in some other sort of jobs is the order of the day.

RANDALL GIRL WINS FIRST IN DISTRICT ONE

Marie Stallings is Winner
Over Large Number
Contestants

WINS FREE TRIP

State Winner Named at Short Course at
A. & M.

Winners in the 4-H girls' improved bedroom contest in district one are: first place, Marie Stallings, Randall county; second, Myrtle Woodson, Hardeman county; and third, Mayette Hendrix, Foard county; according to the announcement of Mrs. Bernice Claytor, Extension home improvement specialist, who has just completed a swing around the State visiting the winning bedrooms in each of the nine Extension districts.

Marie Stallings, winner of first place is 13 years old and has had less than one year of 4-H club work as the club in her community was organized in September 1932, just two months after Randall county employed a home demonstration agent. When the club chose its leaders, to Marie went the honor of being bedroom demonstrator and in her own words, "After accepting the responsibility I went home and looked at my room and this is what I saw—the general appearance of the room was very dark, besides being dark in color the walls and ceiling were dirty and smoked as the room had once been used for a kitchen. The floor was bad. One-half of the baseboard was gone. And the closet was an awful sight." As a result of winning the county contest, Marie will receive a trip to College Station for the Short Course, July 24-28.

No one would recognize Marie's room from this description now, Mrs. Claytor states. She, with some help from her family and guidance from Miss Sadie Kate Bass, the home demonstration agent, has made it into a light, airy, cheerful, convenient room suitable for a young girl's use and enjoyment. To do this, first of all the floor and walls and woodwork had to be repaired and refinished and here the landlord helped a great deal by providing a nice new floor laid over the old, improving both the looks and the winter warmth of the room and making it much easier to keep clean. Marie gave the new floor two coats of clear varnish and a coat of wax to protect it. She finished the walls in a soft cream, after repairing the woodwork and making a sheetrock cover for the unsightly looking brick and crumbling cement flue. She cleaned up and painted, and arranged shelves and hat and shoe racks in her closet. She repaired and refinished her furniture. She made a washstand out of an orange crate and a green chintz curtain. She upholstered her two chairs in the same chintz. She put in window glass where it was needed and made new curtains for her windows, and put the bed in good condition by adding enough slats to have one under each row of coils in the springs, making a mattress cover and a mattress protector out of sugar sacks.

A winner for the entire State will be chosen from among the nine first place district winners and announced at a banquet to be held in honor of all the contestants at College Station the last week of July when prizes will be awarded district winners also, Mrs. Claytor said.

Miss Sadie Kate Bass visited in Amarillo with Miss Mary Sitton over the week-end.

3 YEAR CONTRACTS

Farmers Have Much to Gain by Signing
Contracts

More information has been received regarding the wheat situation which is of great interest to Randall County farmers:

Here is the plan in brief: Secretary Wallace proclaimed a 30-cent-per-bushel processing tax on all domestically humanly consumed wheat effective July 8. The funds so obtained are to be distributed back to wheat growers who sign three-year contracts to reduce acreages for 1934 and 1935 as directed by the Secretary. The first distribution is to be this fall for the 1933 crop, in this way: A farmer's three year average (1930-31-32) of acres and yields will be the basis, and of this production an extra 30 cents per bushel will be paid for the part that is declared humanly consumed in the United States. The farmer may have had a complete failure of 1933 wheat—that doesn't matter, this is a form of crop insurance. The first payment of two-thirds the amount would be made soon after September 15th, the other one-third would be paid next spring.

For his acreage this fall the farmer agrees to reduce up to 20% as directed, to farm the remainder in workmanlike manner, and whether he makes a crop or not he will receive his benefits in the fall of 1934 if he lives up to his contract. Always the plan is to pay the farmer for the portion estimated to go into domestic human consumption. That is said to be about 55%. What the processing tax will be next year, no one knows, but whatever it is will be calculated to bring the price of wheat up to parity with the general price level.

To get into the picture the farmer must sign for three years (really two years now) and he cannot break the contract or quit growing wheat or withdraw in any way from the plan in that period. If he doesn't sign up in the coming campaign he can't sign next year but must wait for another contract for another period of time, if any is offered. If he violates his contract in any way an advance payment made to him become liens against future crops. If he sells out or rents the buyer or renter must fulfill the contract for the contract follows the farm and not the farmer.

Texans at Kansas City objected to one feature of the domestic allotment plan which would force Texas growers of wheat to reduce their acreages much more than the stipulated amount in order to get benefits. The state and county allotments of bushels of wheat domestically and humanly consumed are to be based, so M. L. Wilson, United States wheat production adjustment administrator said, on the average acreages and yields of 1928-29-30-31-32. The individual farmer on the other hand will figure his reduction from a three year base (1930-31-32). Because much new land has gone into wheat in the Panhandle in recent years the three year average acreage is higher than the five year average which means that Texas would have to reduce on an average about 28% below 1932 if a 20% cut is ordered, and in some counties would have to reduce as much as 50%. That would practically exclude a large share of Texas wheat growers from the plan. The same is true of many parts of Oklahoma, Kansas and Colorado and those states are joining Texas in a protest brief being prepared by L. P. Gabbard of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station to the "Triple A."

His Plane Wins

This model plane built by Carl Friend, 17, of Los Angeles, above, was adjudged the winner of the Air Cadets of America contest from among 30 models entered. Working in his spare time for almost a year, Carl completed his model at a cost of $4.

Another point protested is the ruling that new settlers who have grown wheat in only one or two of the three base years mentioned would have to divide total acres for the one or two years by three to get acreage acres from which reductions are figured. The Government's wish to aid them would be thwarted.

National campaign plans explained at Kansas City call for preliminary conferences of extension workers as early as July 15th (in Texas probably at the short course) July 24-28, and an active signing up campaign beginning anywhere from the 5th to 10th of August and possibly lasting until the middle of September. No quotas have been assigned to states it is understood at present.

The wheat plan is different from the cotton leasing plan in many respects. It aims to get parity price for domestically consumed wheat and to let the balance go abroad on the world market. The county set-up is different in that a farmer who signs a contract automatically becomes a member of the county wheat production control association organized on plans suggested by the "Triple A."

OUTING CLUB SPENDS EVENING AT PALO DURO

About forty members of the Palo Duro Outing Club took advantage of the moonlight nights of last week to enjoy a hike and picnic at Palo Duro Park. The cars carrying the merry-makers left town after the sun was low and the heat abated, and yet arrived on the brink of the great chasm in time to allow the ambitious ones to hike to the bottom.

Upon their return to the top, a picnic was enjoyed as the moon came "over the mountain." A meteor, streaking across the sky, added to the delights of the evening which ended when town was reached about eleven o'clock.

Unemployment Problem Proves Big Aid In Fight Against Child Labor

FROM the ill-wind of depression, opponents of child labor in America may have received more aid in their battle against the exploitation of children than they received from a constitutional amendment and widespread public and political support in the past 10 years.

To speed industry back to normality and restore public purchasing power, it is necessary to provide more work for men and women by removing the competition of children. There is not enough work for all if children and adults compete.

The announced intention of the cotton textile industry to co-operate with the national recovery administration in eliminating child labor has furnished fresh impetus to a drive against this old evil. According to a prominent cotton executive, "the minimum $10 weekly wage specified in the industrial control bill would make the hiring of children uneconomical." Other industries are expected to fall into line in making work now being done by children available to adults.

ANTI-CHILD labor crusaders estimate that of the 3,300,000 children between the ages of 7 and 17 who are habitually out of school, some 2,120,000 are employed. Many of these children displace their fathers and mothers in industry. By working a little harder, a little faster, or longer hours, a lad of 14 or 15 can do a man's work—at lower wages. Thus, wage scales are depressed, and the purchasing power, as well as the self-respect, of adult labor is correspondingly weakened.

In addition to the harmful influence of child labor on social and economical conditions, there is the effect on the child himself. Lack of proper food and sunshine makes tuberculars of many young workers; the jarring of family life in crowded tenements makes others victims of nervous disorders. Boys and girls 14 years old are still immature, their bodies not yet fully formed, and the unnatural postures which many of them must assume in their work brings about a cramping of the chest or curvature of the spine which may last their lifetime. A recent survey showed that 49 per cent of working children had some physical defect which was aggravated by their work.

The inexperience of youth

makes children easier victims to industrial accidents than their elders, statistics prove. Reports from 16 states show that from 20,000 to 25,000 minors under 18 are injured annually. And young people cannot resist poisons as well as adults. Lead, wood alcohol, benzol, naphtha, carbon monoxide—these are all industrial poisons with which children are much in contact in mills and factories.

CRUSADERS for child labor reform have waged a stubborn battle for more than a score of years. Federal legislation enacted in 1917 and in 1919 was declared unconstitutional. But in 1924 Congress passed the 20th amendment, giving itself the power to limit, regulate and prohibit the labor of persons under 18 years of age. To become operative, this amendment must be ratified by 36 states. But in the nine years since its passage, only a third of that number have acted favorably thereon.

Four states, in quick succession, ratified the amendment in 1933. That encouraging fact, together with the announced co-operation of the cotton textile industry, and the necessity for providing adults with employment, leads many anti-child labor crusaders to believe that the "all work and no play" policy of American industry for minors may soon be abandoned.

numbered on the docket of said court, No. 1380, wherein Florence

Donovan, a feme sole, Henry Alton

Bassett, and Lydia E. V. Bassett, a feme sole, are plaintiffs, and

Joseph Austin Bassett, and the unknown heirs of said Joseph Austin

Bassett, their heirs and legal representatives, are defendants; the nature of plaintiffs' demand being as follows:

Plaintiffs allege, in count of trespass to try title, that on or about the 1st day of May, 1933, they were lawfully seized and possessed of an undivided five-sixths interest in and to section No. forty (40), block No. nine (9), certificate 1-20, B. S. & F. grantee, located in Randall County, Texas, and pray for judgment for title and possession of said interest in said land as against defendants.

In the alternative, plaintiffs allege that plaintiffs and defendants are the joint owners of said section No. forty (40), block No. nine (9), certificate 1-20 B. S. & F. grantee, Randall County, Texas, as heirs of Allen S. Bassett, deceased; the plaintiff, Florence Donovan, being entitled to an undivided one-half interest, and the plaintiffs, Henry Alton Bassett, and Lydia E. V. Bassett, and the defendant, Joseph Austin Bassett, (or his representative heirs, if he be dead) being each entitled to an undivided one-sixth interest in and to said tract of land; the plaintiff, Florence Donovan, further alleging a cloud cast on the title to her interest in said lands by reason of a certain deed of trust executed by her on the 3rd day of December, 1917, in favor of the defendant, Joseph Austin Bassett, due on or before five years after date, which said deed of trust and lien created thereby she alleges she is entitled to have cancelled, and her interest in said land awarded to her free and clear thereof.

Plaintiffs, on their alternative plea, pray for judgment partitioning said land among plaintiffs and defendants, according to their respective interests; and the plaintiff, Florence Donovan, further prays that the cloud cast on the title to her interest in said land be removed, and that her share be awarded to her free and clear of said deed of trust lien aforesaid; and plaintiffs further pray for all relief to which they may show themselves entitled, whether general or special, legal or equitable; and also for citation by publication, the place of residence of the defendant, Joseph Austin Bassett, if living, being unknown; and, if he be dead, the heirs, their heirs and legal representatives, of the said Joseph Austin Bassett being unknown.

Witness: Berl E. Mayfield, Clerk of the District Court of Randall County, Texas.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORTS

In Goofy Golfathon, Bob Swanson, Los Angeles Pro, Plays 198 Holes in One Day to Set New Record—So What?

BY PHILIP MARTIN

THE prominent psychiatrist who recently said that America isn't going in for any goofy stunts like tree-sitting this summer will be chagrined when he hears about Bob Swanson of Los Angeles. Swanson played 198 holes of golf in one day from 4 a. m. to 7:50 p. m., a total distance of about 41 miles.

His amazing, but slightly dizzy, performance set a new temporary world's record, and put Swanson in the same class with tree sitters, flagpole sitters, rocking-chair sitters and the unidentified gentleman who went over a 100-foot cliff tied to 12 pelicans for the benefit of news reel cameramen. The former accepted record of 180 holes was held by Donald Hunter of Indiana.

ALL the "glory" didn't go to Swanson, a 23-year-old golf professional, however. Caddy Larry O'Neil, 29, also of Los Angeles, packed a bag containing a brassie, a two-iron, a mashie, a niblick and a putter, all the way. All of which must also set a new world record for caddying. O'Neil was tired but in good condition when the 16-hour grind was completed. Swanson was in good shape physically, except that he had blistered and loudly-barking "dogs."

And Swanson played golf. It wasn't just a walk and run, letting the chip shots fall where they may. He had consecutive rounds of 73, 71, 74, 73, 73, 79, 80, 79, 92, 103 and 81. Thus he averaged 79.9-11 for 11 consecutive rounds in 16 hours, and took a composite total of 878 strokes. The Sunset Field's course in Los Angeles, where Swanson played, measures 6555 yards. He played the first four rounds barefooted. Caddy O'Neil wore rubber bathing shoes. Milk was the chief diet of the perpetual motion par shooter.

Swanson lost his laurels, though, before he had time to rest on them. Almost immediately after earning the "golfathon" title he was to learn that his mark had been eclipsed by Jim Ford of Portland, Ore., who shot 225 holes in one day.

THE feats of Swanson and Ford recall several other golf oddities. In March, 1930, Jack Casey, a Jacksonville, Fla., pro, established a record by playing nine holes of golf in five different Florida cities in one day. He used an airplane.

Bob Swanson, above, 23-year-old Los Angeles pro, and his "Iron Man" caddy, Larry O'Neil, inset, withstood the agony of aching "dogs" a bit while their pictures were snapped after Swanson had played 198 holes of golf in one day to set a new world marathon golf record, temporarily.

In June of the same year Leo De Korn played 144 holes in 12 hours, taking 1925 strokes, over a New York city course. Whiffy Cox, Brooklyn pro, established a feat without equal in golfing history a couple of years ago. He played a practice round in Florida in 69-35 going out and 34 coming in. Then in the first round of the Florida Open he not only duplicated the total but exactly duplicated his hole-by-hole score.

Band Members Are Called Upon Saturday to Direct

Something new in a Buffalo Band program was given Saturday morning when Director C. E. Strain surprised members of the band by calling upon them to conduct. The auditorium was full, and even the children from the Training School were pleased when Estill Foster, Charles Strain, Jr., and Travis Shaw, Jr. directed three of the numbers of the thirty-minute concert.

The directing was excellently done, each man reflecting his own personality in his "band manner," but also showing that the members of Mr. Strain's aggregation are genuinely prepared to do a high class of band work in the schools where they are employed.

The program was composed of the following selections:

Under the Double Eagle, J. F. Wagner, directed by Estill Foster. Golden Band Overture, L. P. Laurendeau.

Chicago World's Fair Century of Progress Celebration, 1933, by Carl Mader, directed by Charles Strain, Jr.

Cupid's Captive Waltzes, George D. Sherman.

In Dreamy Dells, by Walter Rolfe.

Dunlap Commandery, by R. B. Hall, directed by Travis Shaw, Jr.

Changes Made

semester of the coming year we hope to make it possible for many boys and girls who would otherwise be idle and unhappy to spend their time in valuable employment which will help fit them for the kind of living demanded by the years ahead. We shall keep our standards of work high, but we must meet the needs of the present time by doing our work in new ways.

Co-Operative Living

Another change which is expected to bring a great many students is that which converts Randall Hall into a co-operative home for girls. Under this plan at least 80 girls can live at Randall Hall for very little money. A member of the college staff will be manager of the hall. Each girl will be charged $13.00 per month for room and board, with lights, heat and laundry facilities furnished. Girls may pay $6.00 of the $13.00 in approved produce which may be evaluated by the home manager.

In order that produce offered in payment for accommodations may be high standard, President Hill is enlisting the aid of County Home Demonstration Agents and only products meeting their approval will be accepted. Parents and prospective students may get information concerning Randall Co-operative Hall by writing.

The girls are not to have all the advantages of the new arrangement. A scheme is under way which will make it possible for a limited number of boys to live comfortably and very cheaply by doing their own housekeeping. Plans for this undertaking are not yet fully made but will be announced soon.

Fees Payable by Month

Students who are interested in taking private lessons in voice, violin, piano, band instruments or in speech will not now have to pay for a semester (eighteen weeks) at a time. They can pay by the month, and fees for these services amount to only an average of about $6.00 per month, the highest charge in any place being $8.00 per month for juniors.

Still another concession to Old Depression is that of group study in voice, piano, violin, and speech. Under this plan students who cannot afford private lessons can secure semi-private instruction in groups of not more than six for the low price of $6.00 per semester. Many teachers and pupils find this plan very successful and the group work which is always supplemented by some individual instruction each week, very stimulating.

First Summer Term Closes

This week marks the close of the first half of the summer session. According to instructors and administrators the work during the first six weeks has been marked by an uncommon degree of seriousness on the part of the great majority of students. They have sought every possible help to enable them to do maximum work next year in schools which will not be very well equipped, and where many children will be in need of special help and care.

College students who are here now believe that it will be very difficult for boys and girls to get to college this fall and that Canyon citizens who are interested in keeping up attendance at the college will have to make every effort to help people in other places to know of the advantages which the town and college offer, and especially of the small amount of money which is necessary for the college student who comes here.

In this connection President Hill remarked yesterday, "If every citizen of Canyon who has lived in some other town would write to his friends in 'the old home town' he could help the college attendance and also help to make Canyon a better town."

Realizing how important it is to the future of education in Northwest Texas that attendance and standards be kept high, President Hill has had a large committee of his faculty, with D. A. Shirley as chairman working on the problems which confront both students who want to come to college and their parents who must somehow furnish most of the money. It is believed that this committee will work out ways and means to enable the usual number of young people to study in Canyon during the coming year, if townspeople will do everything they can to assist.

Everything is in readiness at the college for the opening of the second term of the summer session next Tuesday; it is expected that new students will enter at that time.

Palo Duro Park

ed last night that the Buffalo Band would be taken to the camp sometime next week for a program. Lyceum numbers, and other types of entertainment will be provided from the College. Sunday services will be provided by the churches of Canyon.

The movement of the troops to the Palo Duro Park yesterday ends a strenuous campaign of three months conducted by Panhandle citizens. During this campaign, Amarillo citizens have spent about $1,600, while Canyon and Randall county have been out more than $2,500 in developing the project. Those who have devoted their time and money are highly elated to see the men arrive and the plans being made for actual construction developments.

After the camps are fully made, the first project will be to build a road into the Palo Duro in order that winter quarters may be established this fall. Army officers state that a large number of men will be transferred to this project for winter work.

Keep Cool With Simple, Casual Frocks

SHEERS AND COTTONS, IN WHITE AND PASTEL COLORS, ARE BOTH PRACTICAL AND COMFORTABLE IN "DOG DAYS"

BY HARRIET

SIMPLE, casual dresses are best for the "dog days." You can keep cooler in dresses which are cut along simple lines. White and pastel colors are another step toward summer comfort.

Sheers, both printed and plain, are always cool. And smart. I might add.

Cottons, about which so much has been said, are practical from many angles. They keep you fresh on the hottest days and they tub.

Necklines and sleeves are important factors in this keeping cool scheme of things. Square necklines, cut quite low, are smart. The material with which they are bound often goes down around the armhole, giving a square effect there, too.

Plain V necks—collarless, with or without lapels—make you look and feel cooler.

Short sleeves, of course, are cooler than long ones. Slit sleeves and the short cape varieties are better for summer than those which fit tightly around the arm.

If you like pleats in your dresses, better get wide, deep ones which stay pressed. Summer dampness and heat seems to muss even the best fabrics. To save yourself much pressing and to keep neat and attractive get things which are simple with a minimum of pleats and other fussy details.

Accessories are important if you want to carry out a cool plan. White shoes, hats, bags and gloves, always clean and fresh, further your intentions.

It is a poor policy to attempt to wear a white hat if all your other accessories are dark. White hats are much more striking if you've worked toward them from your feet up.

If you go in for white gloves, by all means get washable ones and have several pairs. Keep one extra pair in your desk in the office. When an unexpected lunch or tea date comes your way you'll be able to step forth feeling and looking cool and clean.

WHITE novelty madras fashions this simple frock with collarless neckline and large revers which button back on the dress. It is the kind of thing which you can wear and wear. It goes into the tub and comes out looking like new.

Brown and white sports oxfords, a brown and white silk polka-dotted tie with small, brimmed hat to match, carry out a brown and white color scheme.

The cape sleeves are cut all in one piece with the dress and fall gracefully just above the elbows.

Cotton, printed in a diminutive leafy design on a blue background, makes a charming casual, cool, summer dress.

The neckline is square, banded in white, as are the armholes. There are no pleats nor ruffles so it can be ironed with a minimum of effort.

White canvas sports pumps, white gloves, bag and hat lend an air of ethereal coolness to the costume.

Textile Exhibit Is Being Shown This Week at Museum

A new exhibit of unusual interest has been placed in the May E. Hudspeth Art Gallery of the Museum this week. This is an array of textiles, selected by Dominica Mastaglio of New York City, who is herself an artist of note.

Among the twenty-four pieces are modern designs by American, Russian, French, Austrian and German artists, some of them, as Paul Poirot, among the most famous designers of the present day.

There are purely abstract designs, valuable chiefly to the art class for study of color and design, and others which are suitable for wall hangings in home or studio or school room. An American design, "Paul Revere's Ride," a design by a six-year-old, and another American design called "Horses," are full of interest even to the casual visitor, while every print hung is rich in color or pattern to the person who wishes to spend a little time in seeing it.

The new exhibit was placed Tuesday afternoon by Miss Isobel Robinson and Miss Miltia Hill of the Art department and can be seen for several days by visitors to the Museum.

MISS BROWN GAVE LYCEUM NUMBER TUESDAY

A large audience greeted Miss Mary Morgan Brown Tuesday evening when she gave the third of the series of summer lyceum programs. Miss Brown read two one-act plays, "The Brink of Silence" and "A Marriage Has Been Arranged," a poem, "On the Waterfront" by Alfred Noyes and a short negro sketch composed the evening's entertainment.

The audience enjoyed especially the sparkling comedy of "A Marriage Has Been Arranged," and all present expressed the hope that similar programs may be frequently given.

John and Edwin Reid arrived this week from Chicago where they have been attending the world's fair.

Mary and Doug to Separate

Mary Pickford, "America's sweetheart," and Douglas Fairbanks, shown above as they attended a movie premiere together, are contemplating separation, according to a statement by Miss Pickford. There may possibly be a divorce on grounds of incompatibility, Miss Pickford said. The movie couple have been married 13 years.
